

Three minute thesis competition

A chance to win £25, with prizes for the runners up as well.

We will be running a three minute thesis competition in which contestants (to be selected on the basis of their abstract) each present their thesis in no more than three minutes. You can do what you like in the three minutes, just talk, use power point slides or whatever.

After each presentation there will be another 3 minutes for questions from the audience.

Performances will be judged by the audience who will be asked to identify the presenter who is the most understandable, visually impressive and entertaining, and whose thesis they'd really like to read or learn more about.

Tick the box on the on-line form if you want to take part.
