LAEL Postgraduate Conference 2022 Timetable
Charles Carter Building, Lancaster University, Lancaster Campus.

Time	Event
8:30 - 9:00	Registration (Charles Carter Building)
9:00 - 9:15	Opening event (Room A15, Charles Carter)
9:15 - 10:15	Plenary Talk (Room A15, Charles Carter) Discourse, structure and language learning - a corpus-based approach to the intersection of discourse and performance in learner language Professor Tony McEnery Lancaster University
10:15 - 10:45	Break
	Concurrent session 1
10:45 - 12:45	Language Teaching and Acquisition Room A16, Charles Carter	Corpus Linguistics Room A17, Charles Carter	Discourse Studies 1 Room A18, Charles Carter
10:45 - 11:15	Score Inflation and Loan Words in the English-Japanese Version of the Vocabulary Size Test Ayako Aizawa Lancaster University	Lexico-Grammatical Differences between South Asian Varieties of English in Comparison to British and American English - a corpus-based study Shailaja Bakshi Bangor University	Stance-taking and code-switching in #StopEnslavingSaudiWomen: (Multimodal) Critical Discourse Analysis of Campaigning Discourse on Twitter Bdreah Alswais University of Southampton
11:15 - 11:45	Match/ Mismatch of English Tense and Aspect: a classroom-based investigation Tomader Alfraikh University of Leeds	Differences between the Use of Pragmatic Markers by Learners and L1 Speakers of Persian: Insights from a Corpus-based Study Sepideh Daghbandan University of Edinburgh	Investigating Mythmaking in Politics: American Politics as a Case Study Mohamed Amine Benkhaoua University of Limerick
11:45 - 12:15	Language alternation as a scaffolding strategy in EMI classrooms Sameya Priom University of Edinburgh	A corpus-based investigation on the use of shell nouns in disciplinary student writing Xiaomei Huang University of Birmingham	Discourse Analysis in Social Media of Spanish-Speaking International Students in American Universities Cristina Reguera-Gomez University of Maryland, Baltimore County
12:15 - 12:45	Exploring Translanguaging Practices on WeChat and their implications for language learning using a literacy-as-social-practice perspective Pingping Xie Queen's University Belfast	Exploring the Value of Learner Corpora in Corpus-based EAP Writing Materials Design Fei Xie University of Birmingham	Authentication and Aestheticization in Influencers' Posts on Mental Health Aleksandra Sevastianova University of Edinburgh
12:45 - 14:00	Lunch
14:00 - 14:45	Poster session Room A15, Charles Carter
14:45 - 15:15	Break
	Concurrent session 2
15:15 - 16:45	Language in Time and Space Room A16, Charles Carter	Discourse Studies 2 Room A17, Charles Carter	Cognitive-Functional Linguistics and Typology Room A18, Charles Carter
15:15 - 15:45	Navigating the Semiotic Landscape of Cha Chaan Teng: An Ethnographic Account of a Local-Global Nexus in Hong Kong Charmaine Kong University of Hong Kong	Language policies, Practices, and Ideologies at Algerian Primary School Amira Cherifi Manchester Metropolitan University	Revising the Conceptual Integration Network: A Case for Contextually Sensitive Mental Spaces Lee Daniels Lancaster University
15:45 - 16:15	'What is a clear sea (...) is a happy plain' The Semantics of Old Irish Landscape Terminology Rebecca Madlener Uppsala University	Constructing the lone-wolf terrorist: a modern-day folk devil Daniel Malone Edge Hill University	The Application of Radical Construction Grammar to Four-Character Chinese Idioms (Chengyu) Yun Song Lancaster University
16:15 - 16:45	Constructing "985 feiwu" in a Douban group: A corpus-assisted Discourse-Historical Approach Yanni Sun Lancaster University	Viewpoint construction and (de)legitimisation: a critical discourse analysis of anti-vaccine campaign press releases using a three-dimensional intersubjectivity model Xinmei Sun Lancaster University	Motion events in Swedish and French: Linguistic expression and beyond Nataliia Vesnina Aarhus University
16:45 - 17:00	Closing remarks Room A15, Charles Carter		