

Transnational Family Justice in Migration Crises

Programme

8:45 Registration and refreshments

9:15 Opening remarks from The Sociological Review Foundation

9:30 Introduction

Yang Hu (Lancaster University) and Daniel Nehring (Catholic University of Daegu),
'Transnational family justice: Mapping the terrain'

9:45 Session 1. Rethinking transnational family justice systems

Helena Wray (University of Exeter), 'Migration, family life and human rights: Supervising government or supervising the family?'

Daniel Nehring (Catholic University of Daegu) and Yang Hu (Lancaster University),
'The Commodification of the border: The changing family migration regime in the UK, 1997—2017'

Eleonore Kofman (Middlesex University), 'Transnational family justice: A class dimension'

11:15 Coffee break

11:30 Session 2. Transnational childhood and parenthood

Karen Broadhurst (Lancaster University), 'Challenges facing transnational child placement: Adoption, kinship and institutional care'

Michael Boampong (University of London, Birkbeck), 'Transnational childhood and social reproduction in the economic crisis: Towards new perspectives on social field'

12:30 Buffet lunch

13:00 Session 3. Gender and intimacy in transnational family justice

Benedicte Brahic (Manchester Metropolitan University), 'Female movers and mothers in Brexit Britain: Narratives of transformations, lost privileges and the "quieter" everyday'

Clive Sealey (University of Worcester), 'Not even as a tourist: Love, marriage, suspicion and the British visa regime'

14:00 Coffee break

14:15 Session 4. Law, reality, old and new challenges

Hyun-Joo Lim (Bournemouth University), 'Effects of defection: Familial challenges for escaped North Koreans'

Mujde Erdinc Kliem (Middlesex University), 'Law and reality: Non-EU family member rights during Brexit'

15:45 Roundtable discussion: Futures of Transnational Family Justice

16:15 Closing remarks